

The Madison Democrat doesn't like the board of control, as a matter of course. It claims that there are Democrats on the board, charging that Luling and Parker are Greenbackers. They are no more Greenbackers than every other member of the Democratic party in Wisconsin who voted for the Democratic candidate for Governor in 1877. The Democrat's objections are pretty thin.

The Chicago Journal seems to think that an extra session of the Legislature of this State will be called to correct the blunder of the last one. It is pretty definitely settled that there will be no extra session, as there is nothing to call it together except the failure of the apportionment bill, and Governor Smith has decided that the failure of the apportionment of the State into Senate and Assembly districts is not sufficient ground on which to convene the Legislature in an extraordinary session.

The street-car strike in St. Louis resulted in a riot Tuesday afternoon, in which many persons were injured. The cars were derailed and windows smashed and during this performance the police were powerless to put an end to the disturbance. After two or three hours of this kind of business, the rioters quit the streets and order was restored. The street-car company offered to compromise by paying the conductors 15 cents an hour, and the drivers 12½ cents, but at last accounts these terms of compromise were not accepted.

The annual examinations of the applicants for the teachers' State certificates for 1881, will be held at Madison, Eau Claire, and Oshkosh, beginning at each place on the 9th day of August. The applicants for certificates will be examined as follows:

- (1) For the limited (five years) State certificate, in the branches now required for a first grade county certificate, with addition of English literature and the rudiments of mental philosophy.
- (2) For the unlimited (life) State certificate, in the branches now required for a first grade county certificate, with the addition of English literature, mental philosophy, botany, zoology, geology, political economy, and general history.

There have been some criticisms made in regard to Judge Mallory's decision which pronounced the anti-trading bill imperative and void. It has been said that Attorney General Wilson does not hold Judge Mallory's opinion as a just one, and think he had no right to render the decision, but should have certified the case to the Supreme Court. As to the soundness or unsoundness of the important opinion of Judge Mallory we have nothing to say, but we believe he has a right to give such a decision as he thought could be sustained by facts. We believe, however, that it would have been best to have certified the case to the Supreme Court, as a decision from that tribunal would have settled the question of constitutionality to the highest court in the State. In cases tried before the lower courts, this would have prevented a conflict of opinions. The earlier the matter is taken to the Supreme Court the better, that the controversy as to the constitutionality may be fully settled.

As might have been expected, there is some fault found with the appointments to the board of control just made by Governor Smith. It is not at all strange that there should be some grumbling, and we hope Governor Smith will not feel alarmed, thinking he has made a mistake in selecting the men who are to manage the State institutions. He has done well—that is he has selected a good board, and if these men can't successfully manage the charitable and penal institutions of Wisconsin, no board can be found in the State that can. The fact is, there were scores of men who wanted a place on the board. The position is quite a comfortable one, and for that reason there were hundreds of men who were anxious to get an appointment thereon. Governor Smith could appoint but five, and those who wanted the positions and were not chosen, are finding fault. The Governor is one of the best hearted men in the State, and is generous to a fault sometimes, and we know he would like to give all his friends positions, but there are not offices enough in the State to go round, but some don't seem to think of this.

The latest reports from Washington indicate that there will be no Republican caucus to take into consideration the question of going into an executive session. It is true, and it is further true that there will be no executive session until the officers are elected, the question then is when will the President's appointments be confirmed? Some of the most important branches of the service are at a stand-still because they have no heads who are authorized to assume any responsibility. The President wants an executive session for this reason. Senators Sherman, Frye, Hale, and others, think it would be best to go into an executive session and confirm some of the more important nominations, but they do not want to break the Republican ranks in the Senate by voting with the Democrats for an executive session. So far there has been a concert of action among the Republicans, and no Republican Senator desires to disturb it. It may be found necessary, however, to confirm some of the principal nominations, and when it is seen that it will be impossible to avoid doing this much, no doubt all the Republican Senators will move together. It would seem to a person who has carefully read the proceedings of the special session of the Senate, and who knows full well upon what grounds the dead-lock has been reached, and understands all the circumstances connected therewith, that the Republicans must back down from the position taken early in the session—not to consider nominations until the officers were elected. This promise was probably made without duly considering the cost of maintaining that position, but as it appears that officers will not be elected this summer, the Republicans will be compelled to back-down or virtually block the wheels of the government.

NO ONE TO BE SAVED.

New York, April 26.—Ex-Senator Dorsey says ex-Secretary Assistant Postmaster General Brady is a scoundrel. So your correspondent is informed by an entirely trustworthy person to whom Dorsey delivered this opinion of Brady. The President says he is determined that the whole mass of corruption in the post-office department shall be probed to the bottom; that he does not care who is hurt in the process, and he has given most positive instructions to Postmaster General James that nobody is to be "saved."

THE STAR-ROUTE SCANDAL.

Where the Enormous Sum of Money Went—Removal of the Chief Clerk.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 26.—A gentleman formerly connected with the post-office contract office, and who knows considerable of the inside workings which have led to the present scandal, says that the men who made the money were the fellows who had influence enough with public men to get them to sign appeals to have certain routes expedited. The contractors were bled heavily on this account. A man who could get members of Congress, Senators, Governors of Territories, and prominent army officers to sign papers asking for the expediting of certain routes, was the chap who made the money, for no route was expedited unless the application had strong backing. The contractors were compelled to pay heavily for this service. The gentleman referred to, who had good opportunities for noting the workings of the system, says that he has no idea Brady ever took a dollar for any official act while at the head of his department.

The removal of John L. French, chief clerk of the second assistant postmaster general's office, was decided upon yesterday, and Henry D. Lyman, of Ohio ex-chief clerk of the depositions division, was selected as Mr. French's successor. The change was to have been made this afternoon, but at Mr. French's request, it was postponed to enable him to be heard in his own defense. He wrote a letter to the Postmaster General, begging, before the change was effected, to be allowed to make a statement of his position, and to reply to any charges which might have been preferred against him. This request was granted, and Mr. French will be heard at length. It is not believed that anything he can say in his own behalf will be of sufficient weight to cause his retention. The charge against Mr. French is the same, practically, as that preferred against General Brady, viz.: Failure to properly administer the official funds confided to him. In General Brady's case there were circumstances which, of course, could not be justly held to apply to a subordinate. Mr. French, as clerk of the second assistant postmaster general's office, was fully cognizant of all the business done by the second assistant. In General Brady's absence he acted as the chief of office, and General Brady's friends were his friends. He occupied confidential relations with his chief, was a frequent and welcomed visitor at General

Brady's house, and the main reasons which led to the removal of the latter apply to Mr. French.

The President and the postmaster-general, it is said, are determined to purify the postoffice department, and to do so they cannot leave in the offices those whose conduct has been such as to lay them open to the suspicion of evil-doing, although they may not have played an active part in the scandal which has brought disgrace upon the government.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The subject of a caucus was discussed all day among the Republicans. There was a great deal of opposition manifested, while others were in favor of it. Under the rules, one-fifth of the party can demand a caucus, but under the present circumstances, it was not thought best to hold one unless something like half of the Senators desired it. A paper was passed around and received the signatures of about half the Senate, and the call was sent out this evening for a caucus to-morrow morning. What will be done no one can safely predict. Some are strongly of the opinion that the decision will be the same as at the previous caucus, and that the situation will undergo no change. The Democrats, however, construe it as an evidence of weakness, and as a sure indication that the Republicans are about to yield. The Republicans, on the other hand, say that, whatever the caucus may decide upon with reference to executive sessions, the fight for the rule of the majority will be kept up.

FEARFUL FLAMES.

Distressing Accident at a New York Fire Yesterday—A Falling Wall Kills Several Persons and Injures Others.

New York, April 26.—The box factory of E. C. Smith, at Oakland and Box streets, Grand Point, burned this afternoon. Many workmen, as the flames broke out became panic-stricken and jumped from the windows or crowded each other in the door-ways in their eagerness to get out, and the result was that George Billings, aged 42, Peter Shoff, 58, and Samuel Dixon, 43, were removed to the hospital. Adjoining the factory was a sawdust warehouse about which a large crowd gathered, the walls protecting them from the heat while watching the fire in the factory. Without warning an explosion threw the walls over the crowd and the flames swept over them a dozen feet.

There were showers of blazing sawdust, spreading some distance which set fire to the clothing of women and children who fled shrieking from the place. The police and others rushed to the aid of the unfortunate ones who had been injured or burned beneath the falling walls; most of whom were boys.

BRADLAUGH.

A Novel Scene in the House of Commons.

LONDON, April 26.—Bradlaugh will attempt to take the oath in the house of commons to-night. The whole opposition will vote against permitting him to do so. Sir Stafford Northcote has written to Bradlaugh informing him that he will object to his taking the oath as a member of the house of commons in the absence of any statement of Bradlaugh which might remove the difficulty felt by a considerable number of members of the house.

With the permission of the House, Bradlaugh, speaking from the bar, gave his word that the oath would be binding on his conscience.

Mr. Gladstone asserted that the House had no right to inflict disability on a member who, it was admitted, had no legal qualification.

Northcote's motion was adopted—208 to 175, amidst tremendous cheers from the conservatives.

Mr. Bradlaugh again advanced to the table, and the Speaker asked him to withdraw.

Mr. Bradlaugh declined on the ground that the resolution was illegal. The Speaker asked him to state his instructions.

Northcote asked Mr. Gladstone whether he intended to move to carry out the resolution.

Mr. Gladstone declined, saying that he could not take that function out of the hands of the majority.

The speaker said that, considering Mr. Gladstone had abdicated his functions as leader, he moved that Mr. Bradlaugh withdraw.

Mr. Gladstone insisted that it was not his place to move in the matter.

Mr. Labouchere said that Mr. Bradlaugh was prepared to return again to the House.

John Bright advised Mr. Bradlaugh to retire.

Mr. Bradlaugh declined. The Speaker directed him to withdraw, and, as he refused, the sergeant-at-arms removed him to the bar.

The Speaker asked for fresh instructions.

Northcote said he would not shrink from removing the commitment of Bradlaugh, but the government encouraged his conduct.

Mr. Gladstone repudiated this assertion.

The House adjourned.

SHEEP-SHEARING.

MADISON, April 26th.—The Wisconsin Sheep-Breeders' and Wool-Growers' association will hold its annual shearing festival at Whitewater Thursday and Friday next, the 28th and 29th insts. Numerous prizes are offered for sheep wools and shearing.

A HORRIBLE WAY TO DIE.

MILWAUKEE, April 26.—A horrible accident occurred at Kern's flour mills to-day. John Kirchen, a sweeper in the establishment, was working in the top story of the old mill near the cog-wheel gearing at the end of a flour chest. While cleaning up near this point the man slipped and fell, his right wrist catching in the revolving gears, which were running about thirty revolutions to the minute. The wheels drew the arm rapidly in with their iron grasp until the thickness of the man's chest was reached, which, with the entire clothing from the man's waist upward, partially checked the shafting, which still ground slowly into the breast and back of its victim. Before the machinery could be stopped he was frightfully mangled, and died in a few hours.

HORSE-THIEVES.

MADISON, April 26.—Horse-thieves stole a valuable team and buggy from William Packham, near this city, last night, and started south for Illinois. The team is described as follows: A brown horse weighing about 1,100, and a brown mare with a white strip in her face and a sore just above one forward hoof. The buggy is a double-seated one.

STILL STRIKING.

MILWAUKEE, April 26.—The printers, about one hundred in all, are still on a strike. The morning papers are issued as usual, but it is with great difficulty that type can be gotten up. The printers want thirty-eight cents per 1,000 ems, but the publisher refuse to give more than thirty-five.

The composers of the Evening Wisconsin to-day demanded an increase to 35 cents per 1,000 ems, which was promptly granted.

Preparing for Gardening.

A large portion of the vegetables cultivated in gardens depend for successful growth on a very rich soil. Hence the importance of providing plenty of manure and of applying it properly. Old or rotted manure is always recommended as best by gardeners, and is generally pronounced indispensable. But fresh manure, if not mixed with litter, and if well pulverized and thoroughly diffused through the soil, will answer an excellent purpose. Thrown on the ground carelessly and left in lumps, it is worthless. A good growth of fine vegetables has been made where it has been thoroughly ground into the soil, finely intermixed with it, and the surface kept clean and mellow through the season. And yet so many do not do this, but leave their manure in lumps, and do not mix it with litter, and do not pulverize and thoroughly diffused through the soil, will answer an excellent purpose. MILTON JUNCTION.

—Mr. Hiram Hoag, of Morgan Park, Ill., is visiting in town, a few days, the guest of his brothers, the Clark Brothers.

Three more crops of Spanish tobacco were sold last week, at prices ranging from eight to ten cents.

—The store of the Farmers' Mercantile Association, under the new management has been largely replenished with new stock, which is fast and happily arranged. Excellent Mr. Downie has seen the inside of a store before.

—Black lining on the lake and river has been quite brisk the past week or so, the overclouded marshes above being literally alive with birds, and the crack of the hunters' guns seeming to measure off the seconds as they fly. Large numbers of birds have been shipped from this point already.

—Mr. Paul Maxon returned from his Texas trip last week, whither he had been with several car loads of sheep, and left again on Monday for Buffalo and New York, on a short business trip.

—Mr. N. E. Maxon is at present visiting friends in Michigan, or at least so says report.

—The graded school commenced again on Monday last week, with a fair attendance considering that the measles are quite prevalent in town.

—Miss Myrtle Larin is to teach the school in the Dennett district the coming summer. She taught the same school last summer.

—Mr. J. Morgan returned from Austin Minn., on Monday night.

—Mr. Geo. Sharpe left for Watertown on Tuesday. His goods and chattels having been shipped the day before.

Mr. A. B. Clarke, his late assistant in the shop goes with him.

The bridge across the river at Newburg has been considerably damaged by the fields of ice above it, and being threatened with certain destruction if left, was taken to pieces by the owners on Friday and Saturday last, and the lumber was piled upon the shore in as good condition as possible, but two or three beams of the bridge were left intact, thus the old territorial highway between Milton and Albion is without either bridge or ferry to cross the river.

—The rain Sunday and Monday gave tobacco growers a choice opportunity to get their hanging crop in good case and put it in bulk when they were not slow to improve.

—Mr. Charley Clark and wife, spent last week at their late home in Rockton.

—Prof. W. C. King, of Springfield, Mass., made a flying visit from Chicago on Saturday, spending Sunday with his father-in-law, Mr. S. C. Carr, and returning on Monday. Mr. King was in Chicago on business connected with the publishing house in Springfield of which he is the head.

H. F. McCarthy, Wholesale and Retail Druggist, Ottawa, Ontario, writes: "I was afflicted with Chronic Bronchitis for some years, but have been completely cured by the use of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, in doses of 5 drops on sugar. I have also pleasure in recommending it as an embrocation for external use."

Sold by A. J. Roberts and Sherer & Co.

CENTER.

—Dr. R. Blawis has gone to Chicago to attend the funeral of his daughter, Mrs. Dr. F. L. Peiro.

—The finest specimen in the Durham stock line, which we have seen for some time, is a calf owned and bred by Ira Faraley, it weighs 93 pounds at birth.

—There will be a regular meeting of the Traffic Temple of Honor at the Grand hall on Saturday evening, April 30. The election of officers and other important business is to be transacted. It is hoped that there will be a full attendance.

—The ladies have done considerable damage to our town. The bridge on South Clark street gave way on Sunday, taking everything with it. Also the bridge on Lynden street near the residence of P. Tracy was a total loss.

—Mr. C. Earnest, of Lockport, New York, is in town visiting relatives, at present the guest of Mr. Frank Spoon.

—Mr. Seth Fisher has lately purchased the farm of Mr. John Cron.

—Mr. A. Wolcott is again on the sick list.

—At a council meeting held in the mud on the turnpike at the west end of Clark street bridge on Sunday evening by a party of young men who were just returning home, the following resolutions were presented and adopted: 1. That we be a crowd and not a mob. 2. That we be a crowd and not a mob. 3. That we be a crowd and not a mob. 4. That we be a crowd and not a mob. 5. That we be a crowd and not a mob. 6.
